Reporting Relationship(s): Science Department Chair, Chief of Core Curriculum & Engagement/Co-Principal

JOB PURPOSE

At Charter Arts, we know that relationships come before content, and students are more likely to learn when they are positively engaged in class with a teacher and peers with whom they have positive relationships. Teachers are expected to create safe spaces where students feel comfortable sharing their voices as equity, diversity, inclusion, and accessibility are organizational imperatives. Therefore, it is a teacher's purpose and responsibility to plan for and facilitate community-building within their classrooms, create collaborative and arts-integrated curriculum and learning experiences, and challenge student thinking in new and innovative ways while aligning instruction to state core and artistic standards. Further, a teacher's job is to ensure that learning is occurring by assessing, monitoring, intervening, and supporting students' individual growth and mastery. Teachers must meet their students' needs academically, socially, and emotionally and are expected to be reflective practitioners always striving to improve their instruction, classroom experience, and contribute to Charter Arts' vision and mission.

Essential functions of the job may include but are not limited to the following:

Domain 1: Planning and Preparation

- Develops plans, lessons, and instructional materials that facilitate active learning; maintains up-to-date lesson plans, unit plans, and scope and sequence documents for all courses taught; shares this information with the department and school leadership as requested
